

7 things to about the Expo

Great jobs.

The NW Youth Careers Expo on Feb. 24, 2016 is the Northwest's largest career-learning experience for high schoolers, with health care, technology, construction, manufacturing, business, design and more.

Top companies.

Nike, Wieden+Kennedy, Providence Health, Microsoft, Gunderson, Howard S. Wright and about 100 other Oregon employers exhibit at the Expo.

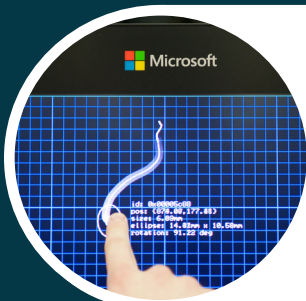

Fun stuff.

You can climb a fire ladder, hold a baby-sized manikin used in health-care training, try out welding, check out a state-of-the-art 3D printer and see props used by Oregon TV & film crews.

Next steps.

Many Oregon colleges and training centers also exhibit at the Expo. Explore college options, internships, certification programs and apprenticeships that let you "earn while you learn."

High tech.

Graduating from high school with some marketable tech skills will give you an edge in your job search. Learn how tech savvy pays off in virtually every career field.

Mock interviews.

Prepare for your next job interview with a real HR professional. Sit down for a practice session with a volunteer who can give you friendly, helpful feedback about your interview style and resume.

Stellar people.

The people you'll meet at the Expo want YOU to know about the interesting, well-paying careers out there. They'll answer your questions and share advice. Who knows? You might be coworkers someday!
