

CAREER DAY

urban development + construction

Howard S. Wright
a Balfour Beatty company

Wednesday, December 9, 2015

Go behind the scenes of Portland's construction boom.

- Interested in exploring careers in the construction and development industry?
- Spend a day learning what it takes to build a big building, including high-tech computer modeling (BIM), scheduling, project management, and job site management.
- Visit a construction site and learn why the professionals at Howard S. Wright love their jobs!

Did you know?

As Portland grows and baby boomers retire, Oregon contractors are hungry for talented young people who can become project managers, engineers, electricians, welders and more.
