

CDK Global Stability meets Agility. CDK is one of the largest technology providers to the automotive industry, with more than 26,000 dealer sites in over 100 countries and nearly 9,000 employees worldwide. From data scientists to sales and operations experts, we're hiring to support your growth and ours.

CDK Global works in a broad variety of technologies, like Java, .Net, C#, C++, JavaScript, HTML5, CSS3 and many more. Our expertise can help polish your growing skillset. We develop software that is used by consumers to shop for cars (or trucks or boats or motorcycles or tractors or more), as well as the systems used by about two-thirds of the dealers in the US to take care of their customers and their interface with the manufacturers.

The most important thing to us about you is that you have a passion for working on cool stuff. If you have a desire to learn software development skills and enjoy working alongside a team that is building cutting edge technology, we are interested in talking to you.

As a High School Software Development Intern you will help to engineer the next generation of enterprise class software solutions at CDK utilizing a broad range of the latest technologies. The intern's primary responsibilities include development of services and components (design, coding, testing). The internship will provide hands-on technical experience and will work with other team members, architects and product owners in the early and continuous delivery of high quality software products that delight our customers.

What you bring to the table:

- Current Juniors with an anticipated graduation date in 2018
- Minimum 3.0 GPA
- Successfully completed at least 1 software class
- A great attitude
- A drive to learn and innovate
- Passion for software
- The ability to participate in a Summer internship program of 8 weeks (June start date)

Location: Portland, Seattle, Austin and Hoffman Estates
